

Listing of Claims:

Claims 1-11 (Canceled).

Claim 12 (Previously Amended): A method of treating female or male sexual functional disorders comprising administering an effective amount of growth hormone, wherein the sexual functional disorder is manifested by lack or loss of libido, problems relating to orgasms, insufficient lubrication, or erectile dysfunction and wherein insufficient increase in hGH concentration occurs during sexual stimulation or a hGH deficiency exists.

Claim 13 (Previously Presented): The method of claim 12, wherein the growth hormone is administered in combination with a substance that leads to GH stimulation.

Claim 14 (Previously Presented): The method of claim 12, wherein the growth hormone is administered in combination with a substance that induces a GH analogous effect.

Claim 15 (Previously Presented): The method of claim 12, wherein the growth hormone is administered in combination with a substance that promotes IGF-I release.

Claim 16-18 (Canceled).